You order a suit made up for you. Rarely is it done within a week. Often there are vexatious delays. You judge how the suit will look from a sample of cloth which often looks very different in the finished suit. That's one way to get clothes. The other way is 'See Your Whole Suit Before You Buy it' Which means see how the lines suit you, see how the fabric becomes you, be certain of the final fit and get the suit without trips back and forth, which eat up valuable time

Old Soldiers' Dinner and Farmers' Day

A Good Time for All—Big Dinner—Two Speeches—Two Baseball Games.

The old soldiers' dinner and farmers' day was a complete success. The good ladies of the town provided a bountiful repast and the honored guests enjoyed themselves to the limit.

There were over fifty veterans present and a goodly number of farmers. Two excellent addresses were delivered in place of one and two good ball games were played.

Following are the names and ages of all the veterans who attended the dinner.

T. P. Craig, age 76; W. D. Craig, 69; Jacob Burr, 78; R. J. Bean, 75; D. R. Teal, 72; J. F. Bascoe, 71; Wm. Freeman, 71; Wm. Pitts, 65; H. D. Tillery, 71; Z. T. Redfern, 68; Philip Rivers, 78; E. B. Moore, 80; J. L. Melton, 79; Miles Threath, 81; A. Hendrix, 70; H. M. Allen, 72; J. F. Jordan, 71; J. A. Thurman, 88; J. T. Moore, 78; J. K. Rivers, 70; Saml Burr, 70; Robt. Tucker, 78; M. C. Coker, 71; W. J. Tasker, 72; E. McDougal, 70; W. W. Patterson, 70; L. L. Spencer, 69; D. M. Gaskins, 70; M. Driggers, 70; W. D. Baskins, 68; D. E. Campbell, 70; John C. Baker, 73; I. S. Huntley, 76; W. H. Melton, 73; E. W. Roberson, 69; Neil Perdue, 71; H. G. Hendrix, 69; A. Stroud, 66; D. L. Lisenby, 67; J. J. Davis, 67; Wm. Rayfield, 73; Ervin Oliver, 71; C. D. Boan, 72; T. E. Lucas, 80; J. A. McCreight, 71; Wm. Guldedge, 71; E. A. Hartsell, 69.

The visitors who came here expecting to hear a good speech were not disappointed, for Messrs. W. F. Stevenson and G. K. Laney delivered excellent addresses on topics of paramount importance and timely interest.

THE SPEAKERS

Senator Laney dwelt at length upon the importance of the farmers' familiarizing themselves with the needs of the soil, and fertilizer formulas intended to fill that want. If the highest efficiency is realized, he said, the farmer will find it necessary to mix his own fertilizer. His entire speech was meaty and manifested a thorough mastery of the subject. The Advertiser will have more to say along this line at another time.

Mr. Stevenson is well versed in the cotton situation and the efforts being made to effect a remedy. He commenced his remarks with a review of the conditions that developed in the South at the breaking out of the war last August. The situation, said the speaker, was one which called for courageous action on the part of the chief executive, and Gov. Elease had the courage to call an extra session of the general assembly. He said that the extra session resulted in the passage of the State Warehouse Law, which law alone justifies the action of the governor in calling the extra session. He said that the warehouse bill was passed in the face of the most powerful opposition from the cotton buyers, the banks, and the cotton mills, who saw the possibility of so much of the profit they are now getting out of the handling of the cotton crop being saved to the producers.

Mr. Stevenson reviewed the State bond proposition, which received so much attention at the hands of the general assembly and was discussed throughout the State last October. He gave full credit for the idea to J. K. Henry, of Chester.

He explained how the bond proposition provided a means whereby the State undertook to lend the farmers 9 cents a pound on cotton which was then bringing only a little more than 6 cents, and how it was intended to use the credit of the State to help the farmers out of their difficulty. He told how the bankers of the State turned against the bill and set the daily papers to fighting it when it was decided that the bonds should be loaned directly to the owners of cotton in a way that would give preference to the smaller growers and renters. He showed that if the bill had become a law, all of the $24,000,000 worth of bonds could have been retired on the legitimate market in May with the farmers of South Carolina having about $8,000,000 profit to their credit.

Mr. Stevenson insisted that the feasibility of the whole plan had been proved beyond question. He discussed at some length the controversy between the United States and England as to cotton. He said he did not believe in this war business but he did believe in this country protecting its rights.

THE GAMES

Cheraw and Chesterfield crossed bats in two games on this day, one in the forenoon and one in the forenoon.

The forenoon session could hardly be called a ball game, as Chesterfield unmercifully walked all over the team from the Tip-Top town to the fans of 10: hits, Ches. 8; Cheraw, 4.

The afternoon game, however, was a better match, when Cheraw, the great Patchell in the pitcher's box. The Cheraw team pulled itself together and at times did some fine work, though Patchell was batted as often as the Chesterfield boys cared to hit the ball. Excellent work was done by Tracy for Cheraw in left field, but the star performance was the play when Lowe for Chesterfield threw the ball from home to McGregor on second and broke up a two base steal. There were other good plays too numerous to mention. The score was 6 to 4 in favor of Cheraw, hits, Chesterfield, 8; Cheraw, 6.

COMING CANNING DEMONSTRATIONS

On the 17th and 18th of August Miss Edith Parrot, State Demonstration Agent, assisted by Miss Dora Dee Walker and Miss Grace Huffington, will give demonstrations of the canning of fruits and vegetables, and also teach how to build and use fireless cookers. These ladies are experts in their respective lines of work and the best informed house-wife can learn much from them.

Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of the proper canning of fruits and vegetables. The fireless cooker is probably the greatest labor saving device yet introduced into the modern kitchen. Miss Walker is an expert in the culture of pimento.

Mr. Rouse truly describes these demonstrations as a treat for Chesterfield county and there is not a woman in the county who can afford to miss them.

MR. WATSON

The Chesterfield Board of Trade regrets that the farmers who came to Chesterfield Thursday last to hear Col. E. J. Watson, were again disappointed on account of Mr. Watson not being present to speak as advertised. But same was not the fault of the Board of Trade, who had Col. Watson's acceptance, in writing, of invitation to speak here on the 5th. A wire was received at noon Thursday, stating that Col. Watson had been detained and could not be here. This is the second time the Commissioner of Agriculture has disappointed the people of Chesterfield County after he had accepted an invitation to address them.

Cheraw's New Factory.

Cheraw is to have a new canning factory. Three hundred acres of land have been bought near Montrose by a newly organized company and work on the building will begin early in January. The factory at the start will have a capacity of about 30000 cans of tomatoes per day.

Antebellum Darkie Dead

Aunt Sindy Streater, one of the old slave darkies, died Sunday night and was buried Monday. She has been a faithful and well loved servant, and belonged to a generation that's all but gone.

The Citadel

The Military College of South Carolina. Announced as "Distinguished Military College" by U. S. War Department. Full course in Civil Engineering, Science, English and Modern Languages. Confers B. S. and C. E. degrees. All expenses pay cadets from South Carolina, $282 a year. A scholarship worth $300 a year is vacant from Chesterfield county, and will be filled by competitive examination at the county seat on 13th day of August 1915. For necessary information and blanks apply to Col. O. J. Bond, The Citadel, Charleston S. C.

THE PROHIBITION ELECTION

The prohibition election will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 4th. There will be two ballots, one. "For the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors and beverages in South Carolina"; the other "Against the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors and beverages in South Carolina."

If the result of the election is against the manufacture and sale, all county dispensaries will be closed after the 31st of December, and the sale of alcoholic liquors and beverages within the State will be unlawful after that time.

This law will not effect the one-gallon-a-month law, regulating the importation of liquors from outside the State.

All persons who are eligible and desire to vote in this election must have a registration certificate and a receipt showing the payment of all his taxes for the year 1914.

Registration Books Open

The registration books will be open on Saturday, Aug. 14th. Those who wish to vote in the coming prohibition referendum should not fail to register on that date.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK

Mr. W. P. G. Harding, of the Federal Reserve Board, in the current issue of the bulletin from that department, says: It should be remembered that the President owes a high duty to the South, to the whole country and to mankind, at juncture. Serious complications between this country and any great foreign power certainly would not enhance cotton values.

The position of cotton today is much stronger, financial and other conditions are much better than a year ago, in Mr. Harding's opinion, and if the people will not weaken their position "by unwise action" they have little to fear.

Attention is called to the fact that the high prices for cotton now prevailing in Germany and Russia, about 30 cents a pound, will attract cotton to those countries in spite of apparently insurmountable obstacles, just as high prices paid for cotton aboard during the Civil War made blockade running a steady business. There seems to be no question that ample funds can be obtained to finance in a normal way a much larger volume of cotton than was taken care of last year, and that even if Germany and Austria-Hungary should be forced to suspend cotton manufacturing entirely statistics show that the needs of the United States, Great Britain, Spain, Russia, Italy, India have absorb is like
